WACHUSETT'S SWEETHEARTS

Evan Sawyer and Julia Perry

Chris Marquis and Jessica Houle

Adam Schmidt and Hailey Boticello

Greg Wilfrid and Amanda Clark

Joe Riley and Courtney Shilale

Ryan Brunelle and Brittany Mongiat

Ashley Coons and Rick Lamothe

"Rick knows how to make me laugh, our goofy and outgoing personalities match up perfectly. We've been together since freshman year and he's not only my highschool sweetheart, but he's my best friend."

-Ashley Coons

"After the last slow dance at Winter Carnival sophomoe year he got me hooked and after that it was history"

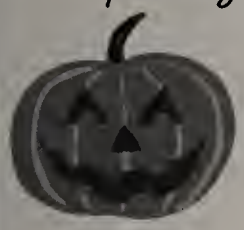
-Brittany Mongiat

Katie O'Malley and Colin Hill

Mario DiPerri and Kerstin Sutter

Remember When...

"Wachusett had pumpkin painting contests for Halloween."
Susan Konola



"We had homecoming frosh year in the gym."
Kat Convery

"We had three cafeterias."
Liz Galvin

"I jumped out of my bio class window."
Ryan Letourneau

"We had the glass staircase and our own lockers."
Dan Wilkey

"We had an auditorium."
Chris Drozd

"We could socialize between classes and still get there on time."
Lauren Beaver

"We had no hot lunches junior year."
Allie Pineo

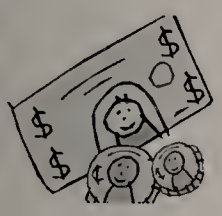
"We could drink more than water."
Courtney Beliveau

"The auditorium flooded during the PSAT's."
Maribeth Cote

"We could use ipods and cellphones in school."
Ashley Coons

"We could leave study long block."
Kristin Olson

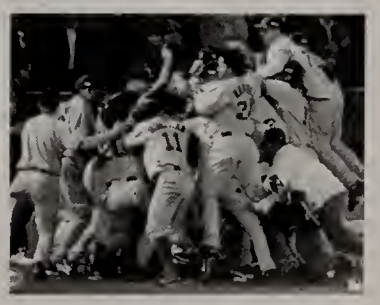
"Red Sox won the world series."
Morgan Mattison



"Lunch cost $1.75."
Courtney Powell

"Dr. P was our principal."
Anna Woodruff

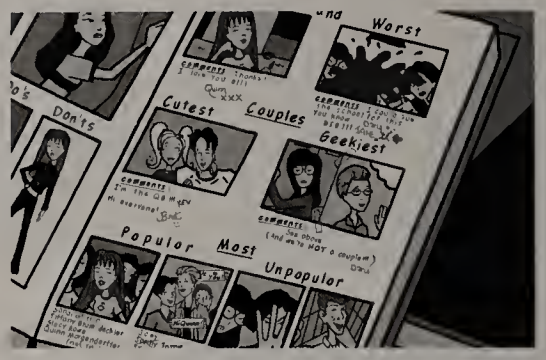
"We won the superbowl 2 years in a row."
Jon Cotter



"Closeup D.C. got stuck in an elevator. We used black and white portraits to give directions around the school (Einstein, Edison); or when we waited behind the red line to leave freshman gym; or when we snuck into the Sr. cafe to be as cool as the seniors; or when Mt. Dew wasn't hard to find? Or remember when the Red Sox were still cursed, John Kerry still had a chance or long-block study meant 2 hours of freedom? How about when an ipod wasn't illegal, the Badlands were loud and the glass staircase was a Holden landmark?"
Andrew Tareila

IMAGINE IF...

"We had to go through the house system."
Amanda Clark



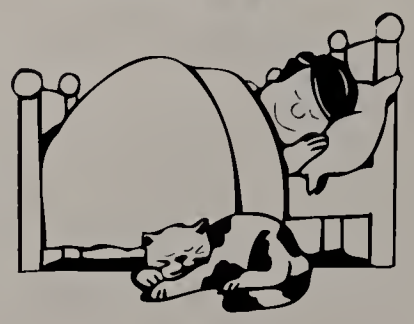
"The school was actually finished on time."
Jenny Kazarian

"All of our home sports games were at WRHS."
Kate Youngstrom

"We all dropped out."
Jacob Schur

"We were as good looking as our senior pictures depict us to be."
Chifuku Kuwahara

"We came to school late and everyone got to sleep."
Alex Clement



"We had another year of high school."
Lauren Flannery

"They had voted to get a completely new high school."
Josh Wilner

"Wachusett had a foam pit and rope swing."
Laura Croucher

"We had an open campus."
Lauren Dube

"We could do it all over again and fix our mistakes."
Sabrina Anderson

"The teachers were robots."
Craig Silver

"Freshman didn't wear backpacks."
Bryan Pope

"We lived in Disney World."
Brittney Blair

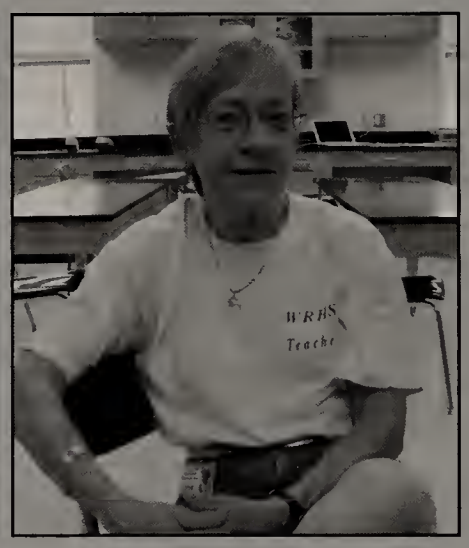
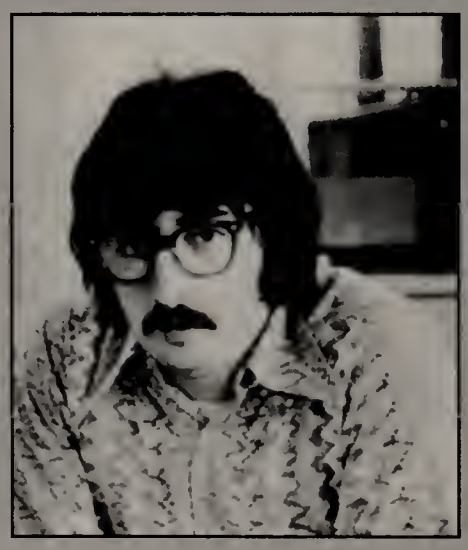
Look how far they've come...

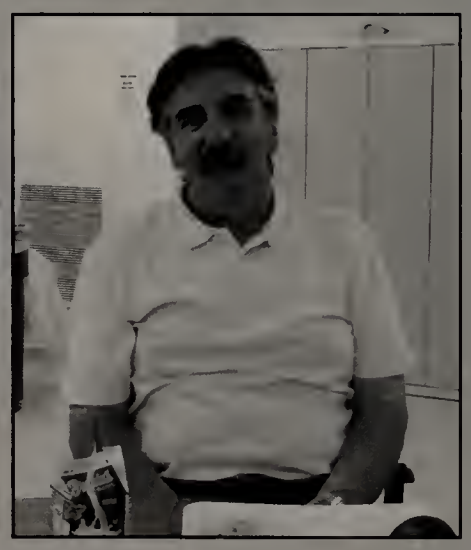


Laura Beckwith

Ms. Beckwith has been a faculty member at Wachusett for thirty-seven years. She has taught almost every math course, at every level, available at Wachusett including Algebra, Geometry, Advanced Algebra, Math Connections and AP Calculus. She will most miss the camaraderie in the classroom, the people she works with and the energy of the teenagers. She has so many memories but overall she enjoys how every class, every year has been different. A lot of things have been very special. She hopes Wachusett students know that math is an interesting subject and though it is hard it can be tackled if one takes it piece by piece and works on it a day at a time. She is not exactly sure what is next for her but she is going to partake in volunteer activities and day trips she never had time for. She is sure that things will come up, things that are enjoyable as well as unexpected. For example one of the most important things that Ms. Beckwith has taken part in for most of her adult life is teaching, which is something she didn't intend to do. When asked if she thought Mr. Townsend could fill her shoes, she responded "They will be different shoes."

James Covello

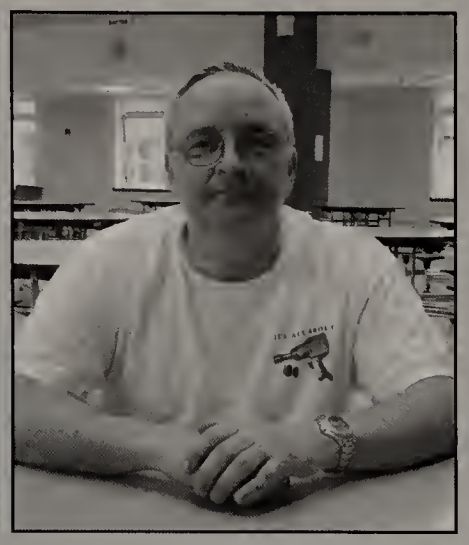




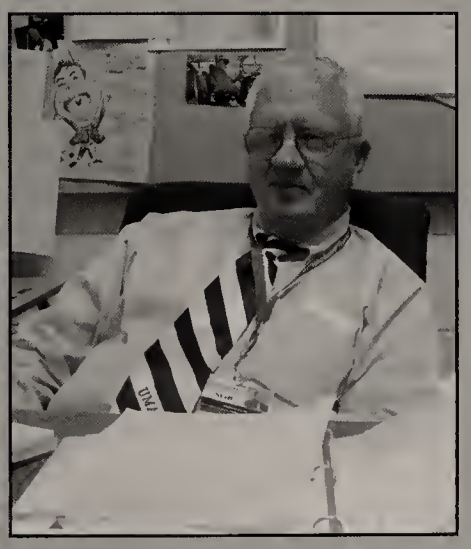
Mr. Covello has been a faculty member at Wachusett for thirty-five and a half years. He has taught woodworking, metalworking, welding, drafting, and design, graphics, auto, and tech drawing and did all of this every day. Because of the construction, Mr. Covello's classes were severely hindered, with his students not being able to use the facilities. While this was a thorn in many of the teachers' sides, it especially hit home for Mr. Covello's classes. So it makes sense that he said he will miss the old building, not the new one. Even though he is retiring he is not leaving the Wachusett district, as he has been employed as energy manager for the five towns. During his time here Mr. Covello appreciated having students come back in later years thanking him for the instruction he gave them. He said that it was rewarding having a job that every day you are making a change in someone's life.

& how much they'll be missed

Alfred Cioffi



Mr. Cioffi has been a faculty member at Wachusett for eighteen years. He has taught auto technology, as well as helping the students and staff in various ways around the building. There isn't a person in the school who hasn't seen him working on something or other every day since he began working here. This is an incredible accomplishment especially since Mr. Cioffi hadn't missed a day of school for fourteen years. His record was only broken because of a stay in a hospital caused by a dangerous blood infection.For the four years since the incident, Mr. Cioffi has not had a day off. Another thing that he does not miss are the Mountaineer hockey games (he hasn't missed one since '95). He has such a passion for the sport that he says he will continue to go after he retires in addition to traveling around the country to each NHL arena for games. Though he is retiring he will not be absent in the halls of Wachusett, the custodial department has offered him a job so he might take a year off and then come back. While it will take five people to fill the gap he leaves, he can never be replaced.



Harold Lane

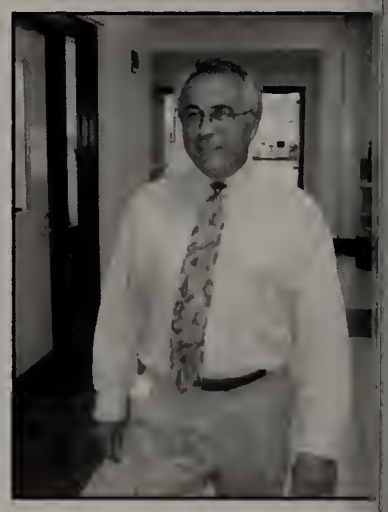
Mr. Lane graduated from Wachusett in 1956. As a high school student his aspiration was to become principal of the Regional. In 1972 he achieved his goal becoming Wachusett's principal for 21 years. In 1993 he left but came back for the 2006-2007 academic year as interim principal. Mr. Lane says that of his many memories, favorites include all the accomplishments made in athletics, the success of the science fair, and the music program becoming world class at Wachusett. When asked what he wants to do in the future, Mr. Lane responded that he didn't like retirement and perhaps he would return to Disney. He would also do a lot of sleeping, having almost two thousand students to keep an eye on, he is one man who deserves a nap. So what else is in store for Mr. Lane? He has literally done everything that he has wanted to do, and therefore he is a very lucky man. But Hal doesn't believe in luck, as his dad told him, "You don't wish for anything, wishes don't do anything. You put your wish in one hand and spit in the other and see which one gets filled first". His logic only proves that in order to achieve your goals it is entirely up to you. At graduation, he told us it was a privilege to work here once again. Well Mr. Lane we were glad to have you home again.

Getting to know the

Cathy Nicastro

Mrs. Nicastro, who was a Wachusett student herself, says that her favorite thing about WRHS is "the academic freedom and the array of choices we can offer students." In ten years, Mrs. Nicastro hopes to be "right here, still learning new things from the students and my colleagues.

Mr. Pedone has been an assistant principal at WRHS for 11 years. His favorite part of the day is "lunch duty - I get to mingle with students and be less formal." In ten years, he hopes to be retired and living in a villa in Tuscany. The class of 2007 was a special class for Mr. Pedone because "my son was a part of this class."



Jim Pedone

Kevin Magnani

Magnani's favorite thing about teaching here is "the unique aroma of freshly soldered metal and magical sounds of circular saws and jackhammers in the morning."He lives by the quote "it's only an obstacle if you let it get in your way." When asked his favorite part of the school day, he replied, "Two hour delays - they count!!"

Ms. Cowell-Arbour's favorite quote is, "Non Ministrari sed Ministrare. - Not to be ministered unto, but to minister." She has been teaching at WRHS for ten years. Her favorite part of the school day is, "any part of the day that includes chocolate. I also love it when former students visit and fill me in on their post-WRHS lives."

Angela Cowell-Arbour

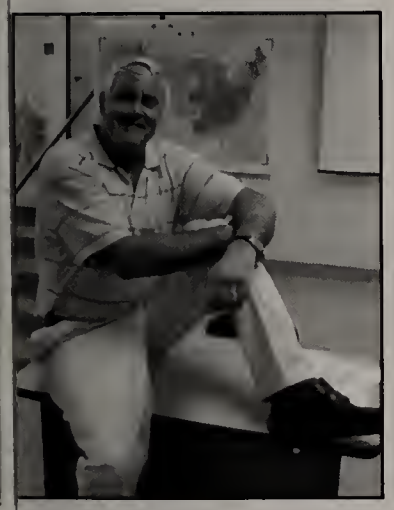
Anne Finklestein

Mrs. Finklestein has been teaching at Wachusett for 20 years. She says that her favorite thing about teaching is "the students...they are really a great group of kids!" Her advice to the class of 2007 is "no act of kindness, no matter how small, is ever wasted."

Ms. Worthy says that her favorite thing about teaching is "engaging with my students in lively discussions of literature, art, music, or film. Ms. Worthy is inspired by her "students past and present - I still hear from students I had my very first year of teaching - I find that affirming and sustaining."

Maribeth Worthy

top ten faculty members

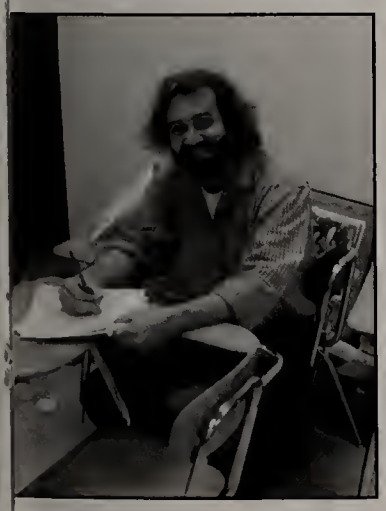


Tim Ethier

Mr. Ethier's favorite thing about teaching is "dealing with the students." When asked how long he as been at WRHS, Mr. Ethier replied, "This is my 28th year as a faculty member. Some would argue whether I have actually been teaching during those years!" In ten years, Mr. Ethier plans to be retired and living on the Cape and spending winters somewhere warm.

Ms. King has been teaching at WRHS for six years. Her favorite part of the school day is at "the start of each class when the students ask, 'What are we doing today?' It's inspiring to have students who are excited to learn." To the class of 2007, Ms. King says, "Dare to be different."

Sarah King



Chris Tarmey

Mr. Tarmey's favorite thing about teaching is "reading students' creative writing." He has been teaching at WRHS for 13 years. In ten years, he sees himself "working at Wachusett, waiting for construction to end...probably with a bad combover."

Mrs. Swidey has been teaching at Wachusett for 16 years. Her favorite thing about teaching is "the students. I love the different personalities that emerge during the year." Her advice to the class of 2007 is to "Find something that you love to do and be true to yourself. Don't be a follower and... be nice!"

Student Council

Studednt Council is a student-led group responsible for representing all four WRHS classes to the Wachusett community. The group also coordinates several school-wide events such as dances and pep rallies. STUCO involves itself in the community through its work with the Mustard Seed, Walk to Cure Cancer, Katie's Cause fundraisers, and a drive for soldiers. Many of the efforts of STUCO are funded by such events as dances, student-faculty basketball games, candy cane reindeer sales, and carnation sales for Valentine's Day.

French Exchange Trip

This group of students lived in France for two weeks. Their homestay was in Nimes and they spent two days in Paris.

Spanish Exchange Trip

A two week trip to Pozuelo, Spain was the highlight of this group's activities. They lived with host families and toured the country. They also attended school in the city in which they stayed. Back in the United States, the group worked with children, helping them to learn Spanish.

German Exchange Tr

Besides having a group of Wachusett students visit Germany during the summer of 2006, Wachusett hosted a group of German students during the fall of 2006. The students were here for three weeks and attended classes and took many field trips to sites on the East Coast. Funds for the program were raised through candy sales and a fundraiser at Val's Restaurant.

/arsity Math Team

his team competes bi-monthly at Worcester County Math League (WCML) competitions. here are 5 rounds of individual questions and each team member must participate in ree rounds. Then the team comes together and answers questions as a group for the xth round. The winning team is the highest point total accumulated throught the six unds. Each team has five members, and individuals are also recognized for their hiogh cores. This year, Wachusett finished in first place in their division with an undefeated cord. Members of the winning team were Justin Hunt and Dan Wilkey (Seniors), anoosh Ziayan and Jim Valcourt (Juniors) and Sarah Lombardi (Sophomore). The team so sponsored two league competitions this spring in the cafeteria. It was the first time e entire varsity division could compete together in three years! Money for the team's ctivities was raised through a big Halloween raffle and assorted other sales during the ear. Below: Amy Brendel and Kristen Ivaldi work on the computer organizing all of the senior color photos and informal photos. Approximately 400 photos of each had to be checked and edited!

bove: Yearbooks cost money and these ladies helped to keep the cost of the book manageable this ear. Business Editor Courtney Bruso, Yearbook Advisor Ruth Briggs, and Business Editor Amanda eardsley not only raised money through cookie dough sales, ring pop sales, and ad solicitations; but lso edited the Parent/Business ad section.

Some parting words to the ones who went beyond the call of duty:

Kristen and Susan - you have been amazing. You did your sections and then picked up where others fell short. You helped the advisors (especially Lav) understand this whole online thing. And you never said "no" when asked to do something extra to make the book better. Your dedication and tenacity has given us "Mountaineer 2007!"

Courtney B. - at some point in time, we expect to see your name as the CEO of a Fortune 500 company! You have such a business sense. That coupled with a great personalty will take you far in life.

And to everyone else that helped - thank you, you made the job of an advisor a little easier.

The football cheerleading squad never let their team down this season. The girls worked hard each day and cheered wholeheartedly at all of the games. Their hard work and hours of practice paid off in the end. With the help of a new gym to practice in, the girls got plenty of time to perfect their routines. In fact, this season marked the first time the squad practiced at the high school in two years! The MVP went to Gianna Wilke and the Coaches' Award went to Jenna Jarosz.

The Wachusett Girls Varsity Soccer team had a tremendous season. The team was run by Coach Rick Lindsten and senior co-captains Katie Whiting, Christa Wilde and Liana Meringolo. The team started with a win against rival St. Peter Marian (4- 0) and continued to be a powerhouse throughout Central Mass. Despite the practice fields in Princeton, the girls were UN phased and fought their way to the top with a record of 12-4-2. Together they broke the school's scoring record with an all time high of over 70 goals this season. The girls' season abruptly ended when they were robbed in a penalty shoot out and lost to Algonquin. The season was made possible by the MVP Kim Depasse and team cohesiveness.

The Girls Cross Country team really exemplified this season's unofficial motto of "DLF>DNF>>DNS," meaning that a dead-last finish is better than did not finish, which is still better than did not start. Co-captains Katherine Banks and Maryann Platt led the 32-member team to a stellar 9-1 overall record, and an undefeated finish in the league. The team also finished third in the District meet, which qualified them for the state meet. Team togetherness was an enduring theme, and helped them persevere through both endless mounds of pasta and difficult meets!

Boys Cross Country

The Boys Cross Country team finished their season with a final record of 6-3. Coach Brian Wallace, with the help of senior co-captains Bryan Pope and Ryan Johnson, led the team through its exceptional season, ending with a fifth place finish in the District Meet. The highlight of the season came with a strong 2nd place finish at the annual Wachusett Invitational. With hard work and perseverance the team fought its way through a challenging yet rewarding season. Coaches Awards were given to Bryan Pope and Justin Hunt, and Matt Wood was awarded team MVP.

The Girls Varsity Volleyball team finished up their season with an overall record of 9-7. The season was one of transition, as a new coach took on the team this year. Phillip Jackson, better known as "Coach J", was well received and much appreciated. The girls played with heart, and a clear love for the game. The season was full of memorable moments, including practice in a not-quite-finished gymnasium, Saturday mornings in BFS, and for the first time in Wachusett's history; taking the formidable Marlboro team to five games. The Coaches Award went to Junior Sarah Borchelt, and MVP was given to Senior Susan Konola.

Girls Basketball

The Wachusett Girls Basketball Team may not have finished their season with a winning record, but they showed determination and strong will. The girls worked hard and gave their all both on court and in the weight room. Many of their games were highlighted by nail-biting come backs from huge gaps in the scoreboard. The team was coached by Peter Bogren and led by co-captains Liz Miskinis, Sarah Borchelt and Solange Bayard. MVP was given to Sarah Borchelt and Coaches' Award went to Jess Auger.

The boy's indoor track team had an exhilarating year in the Mid-Wach league. For the first time in the history of the sport, the team actually had a home track to defend. With the new field house finally completed, the team was determined to prove their strength. After a couple of convincing victories, they were considered one of the toughest teams in the league. This was due to a well balanced competitive area, with every athlete contributing. The team's unity was evident with the swift capture of the league title, secured with over 30 points between them and second place. They also took a respectable 3rd place in the District meet. Coaches' Award went to co-captain Spencer Schrank, and MVP went to Tim Scannell, also co-captain.

Hockey Cheerleading

As the hockey players play their hardest out on the ice, the hockey cheerleaders are ways there to cheer them on. Whether home or away, the girls always brought spirit and enthusiasm to the rink, and did their best to keep the hockey team going strong. The quad had an exciting season this year with the addition of a new coach, creative cheers, and an entertaining in-between-periods routine. In addition, the girls were able to showcase their talent in a state wide competition in Eastern Massachusetts for the first me ever. The cheerleaders will never forget the memories, and had an awesome season supporting the "mighty, mighty Mountaineers!"

Gymnastics

2007 was a story book year for the Wachusett gymnastics team. After never winning a meet in four years, the team had little respect in the league. However, this year things changed! Led by co-captains April Vaillancourt and Nicole Collette, not only did they go undefeated, but also were League champs. They were now known as the team to beat, with their team chant, " Who are you? You KNOW" echoing in the ears of their opponents. They then went on to take sixth place at the state meet. With the help of a dedicated coach, the gymnastics team made a name for themselves and truly proved that the underdog can come out on top.

Alpine Race Team

The Alpine Race team finished their first season strong. Coached by Gregory Davis the team trained at Wachusett and raced at Ward Hill against rivals like Shrewsbury, St.Johns, Notre Dame and Westboro. The team incurred ma setbacks in its first weeks including, but not limited to, dwindling numbers of participants, a seemingly endless amo of money required to participate in the sport and, after all that, it is a bylaw of the league that no team qualifies to b scoring team in its first year of eligibility. In other words, at one point we thought we could race all season and pay race all season and in the end have it all be thrown out. Luckily, thanks to some negotiating by the Wachusett Athle directors, the league decided to forego this rule and allow the Wachusett scores to count in its first year. The tear pulled through and other teams took notice as the team's boys and girls placed in the top 10 consistently each rac They also sent three of its members to states for placing in the top 10 overall. The Coaches Award went to Senior D Robba, and MVP went to Senior Alexandra Fricchione. As we have seen with so many other intermural sports, Wachusett finds a way to finish strong, and hopefully alpine racing will be a long and giorious Wachusett tradition

Girls Lacrosse

The girls varsity lacrosse team had one of their most exciting and fun seasons in the history of their 8 year program. The girls sported an 8-10 season while competing against the league's toughest competitors. One of their strongest assets happened to be their close bond and team friendship. Led by team captains Cait Young and Laura Sullivan, the girls always played with heart which led to many exhilarating victories. It took the talent of each individual athlete to contribute to such a successful season. The team featured three Central Mass All-Stars: Laurel Hendrickson, Cait Young, and Laura Sullivan. Coaches Award went to Julie Kilcoyne and MVP to Cait Young.

The Boys Spring Track team hurdled many obstacles this season including no home track. The team finished with a 5-3 dual meet record (4-3) in the Mid Wach A League. With only five seniors on the team, the Mountaineers started slow losing their first two meets, but rallied to win five of their last si meets. During the streak, the boys came back from a record 26 point deficit to beat Algonquin. The tea found many ways to win with strength in the throwing and jumping events. Young speed also helped t team qualify the 4x400m relay team as well as five throwers, and three jumpers for the District Championships at which Wachusett finished fourth as a team. The boys never lost their composure wh the season got tough. Devin Schlichting took home the MVP award, while Junior Oscar Esposito wa awarded the Coaches Award.

Lead by captains Liz Miskinis, Jill Wiseman, and Lindsey Trotto, they battled through each inning with heart and had some come-from-behind wins. Unfortunately, they were unable to pull it all together and lost their first district game to Quabbin. They ended their season with a 10-11 record. Coaches Award went to Kate Youngstrom, and MVP went to Katie Donovan. The seniors were Liz Miskinis, Jill Wiseman, Kate Youngstrom, and Sam Brackett.

Baseball

The varsity baseball team faced another season of having no home field, but didn't let this affect their season. They finished the regular season with a 14-8 record, but were unfortunately eliminated in the first round of districts by a score of 2-1 against St. Peter Marian. The team expanded its schedule this year, playing teams such as Chelmsford, BC High, and Catholic Memorial. Also, the team did something that they hadn't done in many years, they beat St. Johns! As a matter of fact, they did this twice, 2-1 the first game, then 18-1 the second game! Our team was considered to be one of the best in the state, and was able to prove that they were. The Coaches Award went to Eric McMaster and Rich Pedone, while the MVP Award was given to co-captain Derek Ingui.

Boys Volleyball

The boys volleyball team had an excellent 2007 season finishing with an astounding 15-5 record. Many league rivals believed that the Wachusett program would be in a rebuilding ye after losing two Mid-Wach All-Stars. But this was clearly not the case, as the team started o on a tear, winning the first four games of the season in a dominant fashion. They continuall proved to be a formidable opponent to the toughest teams in their league and secured their place among the best in Central Mass. Unfortunately, their season came to an end with a firs round playoff loss to St. John's 3-2, where the final game went into extra points. The team i still developing and will hopefully rise to be one of the best in the state in the next couple o years. MVP was Tim Scannell and the Coaches Award went to Alex MacKoul.

Wachusett shows off its dance moves.

High school is about living in the moment, meeting new people, and having fun. It is also abou finding out who we are, and who we will become. But we weren't taught these things through th books we had to study, or the tests we had to take. It was a lesson learned through friends, laughter, and memories. Each of us have our own special memories from high school; the sport the talent shows, the dances. And it can be said without a doubt that our Junior Prom will be one these favorite memories etched in our hearts for all our lives.

The Wachusett Drama department graced the stage again this year with their rendition of Alice in Wonderland. The play took place at Chocksett Middle School in Sterling as construction on the new auditorium had not been completed. Directed by Douglas Ingalls, Alice in Wonderland proved to be another success to put under the Drama Department's belt.

Brian Patacchiola as the Gryphon, and Anita Dumas as the Mock Turtle hold hands with Nina Genatossio during a scene in Alice in Wonderland.

Bottom Right: The King of Hearts, played by John Barry, gives a look of shock as the Queen of Hearts, Wachusett's Colby Challenger, lays down the law. Which usually ends in a beheading.

Wachusett Singers Perform with Musical Legend

Kenny Rogers

Above: The Wachusett Singers with Kenny Rogers

Kenny Rogers has had dozens of chart topping hits and has sold millions of albums worldwide throughout his career. When Mr. Thomas A. Nerbonne, Wachusett's Choir Director, got the news that his students would have the chance to perform with him, he was ecstatic. The Wachusett Singers had alread had a lot on their plate to begin with; private voice lessons and hours of rehearsals take more than a little time. The Holiday Concert was on December 7th and 8th, and the Christmas breakfast for senior citizens was on the 16th. On the 15th, the Singers went to Foxwoods and performed at 11:30 p.m. They didn't ge home until the early hours of the next day, and still sang for the senior citizens at 9 a.m. Then it was bac Foxwoods to perform with Kenny Rogers again. It was a tiring ordeal, but all worth the while. The performance was a hit, and Wachusett High School now can say that they have officially performed with Grammy winning artist.

Senior Night

As freshmen we were terrified of them, and as sophmores we were ignored by them. Finally we became juniors and shed the title of underclassmen, but we still weren't there just yet. Then it happened, the class of 2006 graduated and we became Seniors. For something that was looked forward to for ages, it certainly flew by in an instant. Somehow Senior night arrived and we were all shocked that there were only fifty days of highschool left. Looking at the paint-smudged faces, the stacks of pizza boxes, and the friends passing around one giant bottle of soda because there were no more cups, we realized that we would miss it here. But while leaving Wachusett was inevitable, those friendships and memories we made will always stay in our hearts.

This year's science fair was another success as Wachusett Regional High School students displayed their scientific talents to the crowd of family and friends. These students are some of the most brilliant young individuals in the country. Their desire for the understanding of incomprehensible data proves that science is both a study in human passion for knowledge, just as much it is a study in facts and logic.

"The most beautiful experience we can have is the mysterious. It is the fundamental emotion which stands at the cradle of true art and true science."

Halloween at Wachusett

It's tradition at Wachusett to dress up for Halloween. This year was no different, having hundreds of ghost and ghouls fill the hallways throughout the day. Our four years at the Regional were full of turmoil, stress and of course construction. It had its effects on our school spirit, but for those that kept their spirits high, i also kept a smile on the rest of the classes' faces. Looking back, Halloween was one of these instances. I also happened to be the one day of the year we got to dress in something absolutely ridiculous and not ge called a freak. So to all those that braved school wearing a costume, here's to you! You are the ones who made All Hallow's Eve 2006 a day to remember.

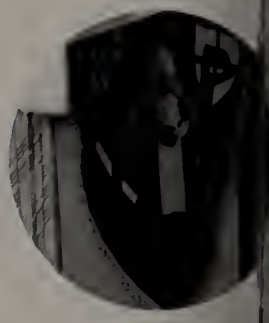
Madrigal Dinner

Madrigal Dinner brought in the holiday season for the 26th time this year. Hosted by the Wachusett Music Department, the Madrigal Dinner has become one of the most popular events of the year. Students and guests were taken back to the period of the Renaissance for a night of drama, song, and dance.



The play this year was "Hercules," performed by the Wachusett Singers, Chamber Choir, Orchestra and Wind Ensemble. The King and Queen of the court were Eric McMaster and Roxanne Joseph. Jena Bastardo, Rachael Grolman, and Ariel Sands played the three leading maidens. The dinner was held over a period of three days, February first through the third. The night was an overall success, and Madrigal will surely be a tradition for many more years to come.

"Congratulations!
Today is your day!
You're off to Great Places!
You're off and away!

You have brains in your head.
You have feet in your shoes.
You can steer yourself
Any direction you choose.

With high school you're done!
No more mud and construction!
All your grades are turned in,
No more classroom instruction.

Wachusett sends off
A whole new batch of grads.
A relief and great joy
To your old Moms and Dads.

It's hard to believe that this day is now here when these young folks we love and hold ever so dear

Are preparing to grad-u-ate, leaving the fold
Stepping out in the world, optimistic and bold."

Why, really, just yesterday,
honest to Pete,
these kids were all tiny
and looking so sweet!

They looked just like cherubs,
Don't you recall?
Just look at them now
all grown up and so tall!

Taken from the speech made by Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid.

"Let us pray. Good and gracious and generous God, on this eve of high school graduation we come t hear a word from you a word of grand purpose beyond our individual goals, a word of deep meaning beyond the easy platitudes, a word of blessing that we can own and trust and take with us into all of our tomorrows. Speak that word now into our ears and minds and hearts, to the glory of your holy name. Amen."

The Baccalaureate service. which was held on Thursday, June 7th 2007, was filled with heartfelt speeches including one by Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid, parents of Gregory Wilfrid. Their speech, which used Dr. Suess inspired rhyme, was introduced with the prayer above.

GRADUATION

Saturday, June 9, 2007
DCU Center

There is a good reason they call these ceremonies "commencement exercises." Graduation is not the end; it's the beginning.
~Orrin Hatch

The day has finally come. The day we've been dreaming of but also the day we've been dreading. It not only marks the end of our days at the Regional but also the end of our childhood and the beginning of the rest of our lives. Smiles spread across our faces as the ceremony began and we walked down the aisle, passing our parents, siblings, teachers and many other people who helped us along the way. We then sat through the ceremony as our classmates bid their farewells and balloons flew through the air. It felt like only an instant before we found ourselves across the stage, diploma clutched in hand and posing for a picture. By the time we reached our seats again it dawned on us; high school was over and we survived it! Thoughts came back in a rush; "I can't believe it's over, I hope I didn't walk too fast across, I didn't trip!? It's kind of hard to believe that we went through so much just to get a piece of paper. We survived friendships and crushes, homework, tests, late night study sessions and exams, proms and sporting events all just to get a parchment saying we've "satisfactorily completed a Course of Study prescribed for Graduation from this School and is therefore awarded this Diploma." However, we all know that we've survived even more than that. We were able to learn in an environment that changed every day and for that we deserve congratulations. So although leaving Wachusett, our home for four years, will be bittersweet many adventures lie before us. We will be entering colleges, starting jobs or just relaxing in the fall and our journey is just beginning. Hopefully no one forgets where they come from and knows that wherever they are going they will be able to achieve greatness.

CONGRATULATIONS

COMMENCEMENT SPEECHES

...ors Address - "Unfinished Pages"

...e are gathered here today to celebrate our graduation ceremony - an event that shares equal ...ortance both for looking back and envisioning the future. We are standing on the precipice of a ... world in which there will be many unknowns - both challenges and triumphs alike. In the ...re, we will all travel along different paths, but we will all strive for a common goal of success ... happiness. Our lives are novels with the end yet unfinished, and it is our task to complete the ...y chapters of our lives yet to come. As seniors, we already have several chapters of our ...es completed. These memories of past chapters help tie us together, as we have all shared in ...ghlights and difficulties of life at Wachusett. In the past weeks, we have continually ...nisced over these past chapters - recalling the times that identify us as students of Wachusett. ...oughout our time at Wachusett, we have come to realize that the essence of our stories does ... come solely as a result from what we have done at Wachusett, but rather how we have done it. ...e should not come simply from the fact that we competed as Mountaineers on the sports fields ... athletic courts, but rather that we did it with dedication and drive. Our arts programs have not ...ned their reputations simply by the fact that so many of us participate in them, but rather from ... talent, skill, and determination with which we have participated in them. Even our academic ...ses may not have the strongest remnants in our memories based solely on the facts and ...wledge we have learned, as compared to the memories we will share with our classmates and ...hers.Whether we remember fighting for the final points in a game, getting the solo piece just ... during a concert, remembering the seemingly impossible terms for a science fair presentation, ... math modeling class who cannot determine if Gandalf should win the hypothetical wizard fight, ... of our stories contain unique personal differences that have helped us further define who we ...s individuals. Although these chapters can now only be recalled in memory and not be ...tten, they will serve as the foundation for the chapters yet to come."

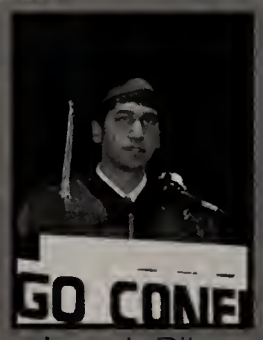
"Overcoming Adversity"

"Sitting back and recalling my high school experiences, I think immediately to the first day that I entered Wachusett. Of course, this occurred after waiting endlessly for the bus, while getting drenched in rain. Covered in water and hair awry, I raced through the halls with my friends in search of my homeroom. Finally arriving at our destination, I was forced to stand on the side of the room as everyone stared at my frizzy hair and soaked clothes. After one of the worst days of my life, I decided I would never go back to Wachusett. Yet now, four years later, as I walk into school, those friends are mere acquaintances, and I see Wachusett in a completely new light. With a new sense of confidence, I feel that I can leave this crazy place knowing a little more about who I am and want to be. Being the lucky class that has experienced four years of construction, we have walked into a different school every year of our high school lives. Unfortunately, none of the cheesy high school movies prepared us for the four years we would spend in this place. Hollywood tries not to feature schools that are under construction, lack sports fields, cannot host homecoming, and whose students and teachers must battle their way through the hallways. Knowing that Wachusett is no ordinary high school, I personally believe that anyone who has survived four years here during construction can handle pretty much anything in life. While it's quite easy to list and focus on the day-to-day obstructions, it's also hard not to realize how well we have persevered and kept the Wachusett spirit alive. After all, if we look for positives in all of this chaos we might realize that this mess of a school kept us closer together. By constantly being annoyed and angered by the lack of facilities and space, we have all truly found a common ground. The sports kids who have no fields can easily relate to the arts kids who have no performance areas. Despite these serious setbacks, we have still had some of the best sports teams, science competitors, National Honor Society members, artists, performers, musicians, mathematicians, and political groups in the state.

SPEECHES CONTINUED



Joseph Riley

"Memories of a Mountaineer"

"We came with the construction, and we are leaving the construction. Unfortunately, we have on known construction. But I am sure, in a few years, this will be a great place to come to school. B even with all this going on, we persevered, continuing to make friends, changing groups of friend pursuing our goals, and having fun all at the same time. All the while, heading towards graduatio And remember those football championships very cool. So here we are, suddenly graduation seems so final, so frightening. We think of all our friends we will leave behind. We think back to a the good, the bad, the sad, the funny things we have done. All the times shared together, class projects, class trips, and all the other activities. And all the time we spent together, we were alwa striving to make our class number one. These are all just memories now. Memories we will cheri forever in our hearts for the rest of our lives. This is also the last time we will sit together as a cla United. All our families and teachers tell us, this is just the beginning, your life is just starting, go out, with zeal and commitment, and be what you want to be. You are the only one who can limi yourself, so set the goals high, and then strive to reach them. We have overcome many obstacle in our lives here at Wachusett, and we are still standing tall and strong. Remember the road to success is a rough and rocky road, and many times, it's long and windy. Let us not forget where we came from and what we stand for. We are the best of the best, the newest of the new, and for many, freshmen all over again. We are ready to meet the challenges and obstacles once again. I only wish we had more time to enjoy what we have been through, but that's always the wish of everyone. "

"Then, Now and Forever"

Megan O'Ma

I missed the idea that others had been there before whom I never knew, but who led, guided, and encouraged us with the shared connection of attending Wachusett. I missed the heavy doors that slammed behind me where I knew so many others had also past through, the basketball hoops that sloped down emphasizing the power and passion of millions of baskets, and the desks where students learned similar facts and took difficult tests. This new hallway remained unused, lacked emotions and memories, and felt distant and cold. The windows did not have views of the street and town, but rather of construction sights that were creating a new school, that would once again change the map for incoming students who would never recognize our presence. I was unsure of where teacher's classrooms were and walking in the halls I felt lost and lonely. Then, I realized something that I never thought of before. While we seniors may still feel like confused freshmen when trying to navigate around Wachusett and we may not be surrounded by impressions of past students, we need to make our own mark. We need to leave behind something that shows we have been here and that we walked these halls, sat in these desks, and played in this gym. Where we made lasting friendships, met possible spouses, and learned lessons beyond text books. Whether it's a glob of gum under a cafeteria table, a small mark on a new locker, or just the memory of our existence, we were here for four years and we must make sure this building will reflect it. Much like how we must leave our mark at Wachusett, we also need to leave our mark on the world. Whether it's through your job, having and loving another, or leaving your footprints in cement, you need to find something in your life that you love to do. Follow that passion and most importantly share this with another - a family member, friend, teacher, or employee. I will quote Gandhi when I say, "Be the change you wish to see in the world."

Dear Anthony Macaruso,

Wow - how time has just flown by! Seems like yesterday we were dropping you off at preschool and now you're graduating from high school. I guess we can't refer to you as "Little Ant" anymore. Anthony, you have made us so proud! We've watched you grow from the shy little boy into a confident, intelligent young man. You always felt that being the middle child was tough, but you have chosen your own path and become your own person. And what a fine person you've become! Thank you for the wonderful memories (especially the Christmas concerts). Your future students will be lucky to have you as their teacher. Remember, We are always here for you - we love you Ant!

Erika Laine Bashaw

You have worked hard to achieve your goals. You have put so much of yourself into all that you've done and yet you have unselfishly helped others along the way. Our wish for you is to live each day completely new, to greet each sunrise with yesterday's concerns as distant as if they'd never been... You are a daughter who is truly a gift from God and we want you to know how proud we are of you and how very precious you are to your family.

All Our Love,
Mom, Dad & Christopher

Richard Pedone

To our dearest son Richard James- On September 18, 1988,God blessed us with a gift and that gift was you. Now that 18 years have passed, the memories of you in our lives are both precious and priceless. We want you to know how much pride we have in your accomplishments but most importantly in your perseverance and strength of character. We applaud your individualism and bounty of talents and always feel secure in knowing that no matter where life leads you always remember your way home.
Congratulation and God Bless

Timothy Campbell

Timothy, we are so proud of you. you have always warmed our hears. From very early on we knew how special you were. You have shown a strong sense of self by following a path true to what you believe in.

Some of your most significant accomplishments in high school have been induction to National Honor Society and earning Eagle Scout Rank. We know you have worked hard to achieve these honors. You have demonstrated perseverance, patience dedication, motivation and responsibility not only in school and scouts but at home, church, work, and socially too.

Your positions at Video Attractions, Underwater Pool Master, Mt. Wachusett and Sebago Lake have helped you develop a foundation for a fine work ethic that will follow you through out life. We are so happy you are college bound to U-Mass Dartmouth.

We love you,

Mom and Dad

Thanks To All!

Have A Great Trip!

The 2007 "Mountaineer" yearbook advisors and staff would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the great people who helped bring this book to completion.

Wayne and Bev Myers from Myers Studio, who are the official yearbook photographers. They were tremendous in scheduling sports photos, clubs and organizations, and other special Wachusett events throughout the year. They met all of our requests in a timely way with a great attitude! We really were pains sometimes, but they overlooked that! Thank you so much!

O'Connor School Portraits, who delivered the underclassmen and faculty photographs to us in a way that made our work much easier. Thank you!

The Tuesday night custodial staff who picked up after our meetings. We know we threw you off your cleaning schedule more than once, but you never complained or made us move. Thank you for your patience!

Donna Laramee, Amy Kathman, Ginny Belcher, and all the other ladies in the Main Office who helped us gather information and gave us lists for cross checking student names and spellings and took our phone calls and messages! Thank you for being there!

All the administrators, faculty, and staff who helped by being cooperative when we were less than organized.

Special thanks to Principal Hal Lane for caring enough about the Class of 2007 to do some serious advisor recruiting. Assistant Principal Roberta Lojko was a great help in making the Guidance Office available to finish the book in June (as well as for the popcorn)! And AD Jennifer Lynch was wonderful in providing information to the staff regarding all three seasons of Wachusett sports facts.

Peter Greer, our company representative from Jostens, who worked with us to produce a beautiful book. He answered so many questions - he has become a permanent part of our email address books! He also showed tremendous patience with a group of "newbie" online advisors. Thank you so much for all your help!

And finally, thank you to Kristen, Susan, and Courtney, for without you, there would be no yearbook. You taught us about not giving up and no matter how bad things got, you always kept moving forward. You will always have our respect and admiration for a job well done. Bravo!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!
